South Jordan, UT – Fear is one of the most common human emotions, and is often thought of as the most insidious. Creeping into our thinking, poisoning relationships, stunting growth, fear affects all of our choices and behaviours and not for the better. For Executive Life Coach Kimberly Giles, fear is the real cause of most of our problems. If we can learn to escape our fear we can gain clarity and create more success and happiness in our lives.

“It fogs the lens through which you see your world. It essentially blinds you to your true potential and prevents you from seeing situations accurately,” says Giles, author of hotly anticipated new book, ‘Choosing Clarity: The Path to Fearlessness’. “Often, the people I work with have let their fear of failure and their fear of loss affect every facet of their lives – from their marriages, to their jobs. This fear creates subconscious selfishness preventing them from showing up for other people and it hindering their motivation and growth.”

With ‘Choosing Clarity: The Path to Fearlessness’ Giles offers her revolutionary approach toward battling fear and details a simple, practical system for making fundamental changes to how people see themselves, and their lives. Giles contends that we have the power to determine our inner state in any moment and this means fear is a choice.

“In any moment, you have the power to choose your mind-set and it’s an easy choice because there are only two options, fear or love” says the author. “It’s that simple, and that profound.” ‘Choosing Clarity: The Path to Fearlessness’ teaches readers exactly how to choose love and escape fear.
